

Columns are used to enhance the appearance of any home. Columns are durable on exterior and interior applications. Stains may be used on interior applications, latex paints are suggested for exterior applications.

Application and Ordering Notes:

Columns come standard in 96" lengths and can be cut down to exact dimension. Columns can be split to be used as a half column or to surround a supporting post, or be used as a half column. These columns are not load bearing, however they are durable on exterior and interior applications. Stains may be used on interior applications, latex paints are suggested for exterior applications due to UV exposure. There is a charge to cut down columns to specific dimensions in height and to split the columns as well.
